Students Express

It's quiet as the Creative Writing class works furiously on their assignment. Posted on the chalkboard is the assignment, "Give your opinions on the book, Catcher in the Rye." A teacher paces up and down each row, pleased that everyone has so much to say. Some may be bad, some good, but none the less, the individual feelings of each student. After the writing is done, a class discussion begins. The teacher is very concerned about what the students learned from the book. It is so important to the teacher that the students are given the chance to learn and very important that they can better themselves in any way possible. During the discussion, everyone gives their imput and the discussion goes smoothly. Scratch, scratch, scratch, the pencil skims across the white surface. A student can hardly write fast enough to tell how the theme of the book relates to our lives, because there just is not enough time. There isn't more time for writing, but oh, there is still the discussion: so much to be said in the short time which is left in the classes '54 minutes.

1. A volleyball class uses teamwork.
2. Lisa Martini and Andrew Lui are helped by Mr. Cormer in the Calculus I-II class.
3. Gargoyles in front of the school.
4. Cornell Fourney, Marco Sanches, and Dale Armstrong, apply their creative abilities in Art.

2. Ibarra Ra works carefully with a piece of wood.
3. Kevin Shields and Mr. Murpy work together to do an assigment.

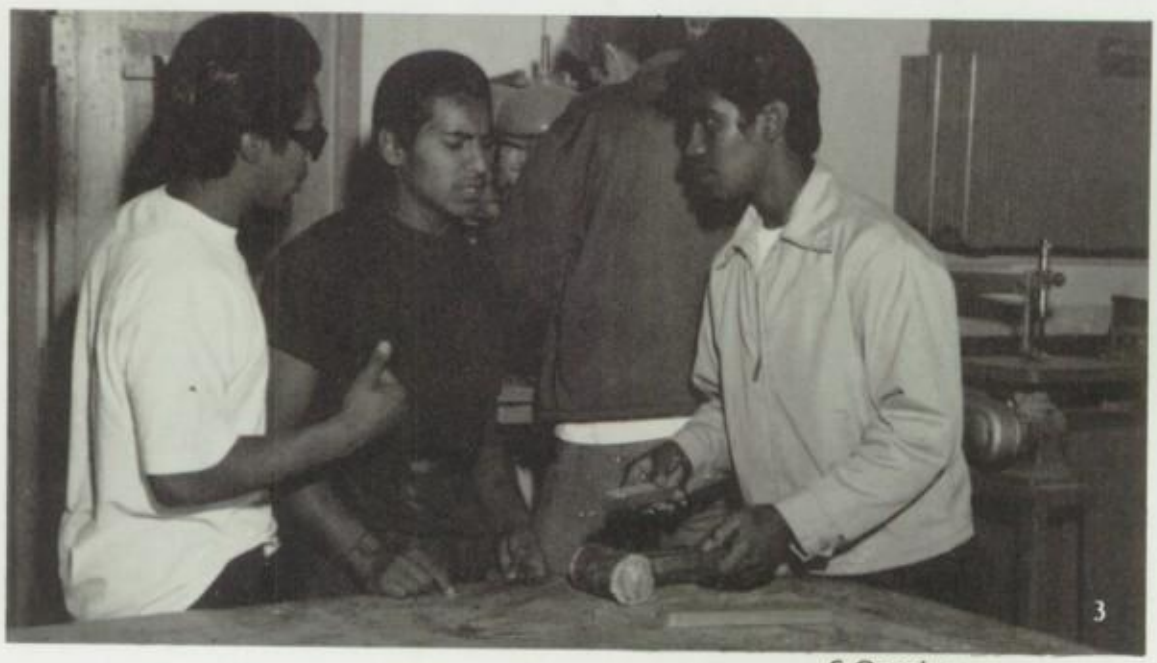
Being Yourself

Being yourself through Creativity

School is a time for creating. It is a time to show the way you feel. By applying yourself in a skillful class including: Auto Shop, Wood Shop and Art, you bring out you underlying talents. Creativity is something one keeps forever, school is something you will only have for a short while. During your school years, including your past year, is the time to express yourself in the things you do best whether it be writing for the school paper or painting a picture. Everyone has talents of one kind or another. In the classroom, your skills may be different from someone else's but they are still there. Students expressed themselves in many different aspects of academics but in one way or another they showed what they were able to do.

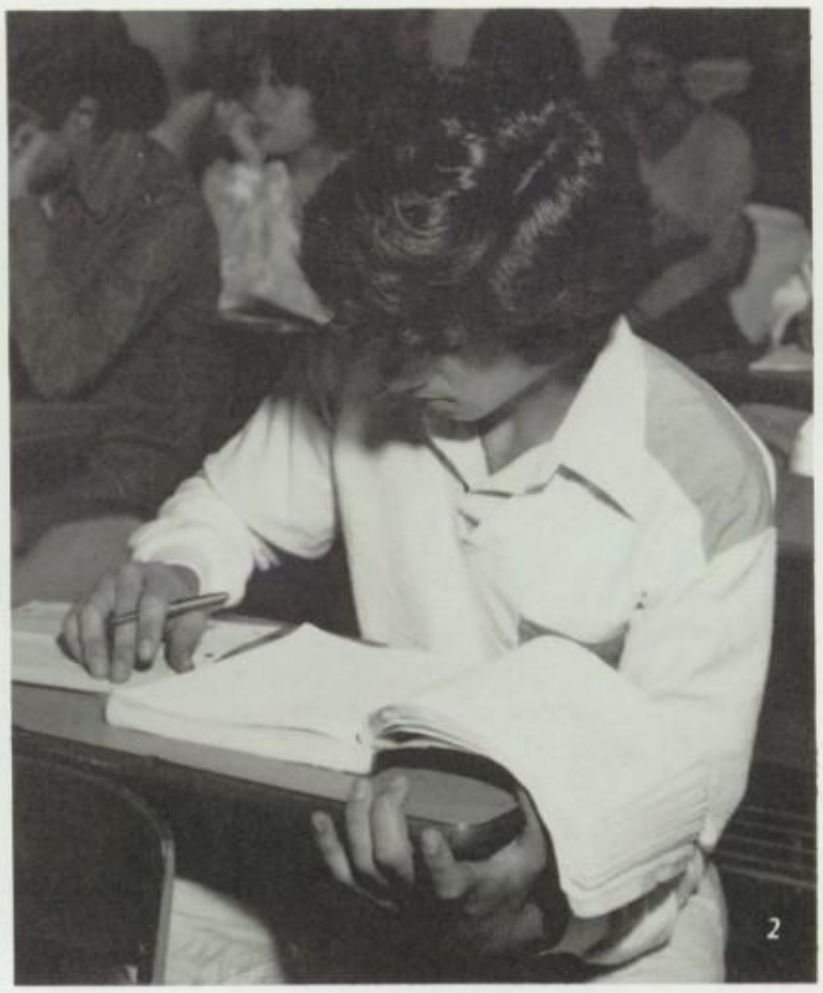
Individual talents were found many times within students. Students learned to be independent using their own creativeness. In that way they could be themselves. Everyone has to express themselves and when better to do that then in school? There are many outlets that everyone has the opportunity to plug themselves into; Art classes, Photography, and even with a counselor.

Teachers and students work very closely in these expressions. Teachers coach out that spirit in us to be creative and learn, after all, the more knowledge obtained, the better you can put forth the real you.



1. Students of Mr. Nitzel examine the car for their project.
2. A teacher and a student work on their script for their media production.
3. David Lopez, Albert Torres, Victor Serrano, Authur Ariolla argue about their material.

Through Creativity



In English there is the written you. Math, you learn to think things through. Biology, always able to ask why the things around you are.
Going to school and making friends. Who you hang around with is your way of expressing yourself to others and sharing their thoughts.

1. Adelaida Ramos polishes her work in wood shop.
2. Chris Pinon studies Trigonometry.
3. In Auto Shop Ramon Montreal sands the brakes.

People's

Question is: Do you feel that school is a good place to express yourself? Why?

Dennis Clay, senior: "There are lots of people you own age. They listen, grown-ups don't."

Adrian Camberos, senior: "I'm with all my friends. I feel comfortable. I don't feel like someone's watching over my shoulder."

Ken Layne, sophomore: "I can make productions at the television studio from ideas I have had."

Marc Benner, sophomore: "In my Journalism class, I can write things that interest me. Hopefully I can get other people interested too, by writing about them.

Juan Delvalle, junior: "I guess I like chemistry because I know more than the teacher. But really I like to learn about physical and chemical changes and chemical equations.

Dave Hansen, sophomore: Yes, I can express myself physically by blasting people in football."

Janet Angulo, senior: "It's good because we're allowed freedom to voice our opinions through the school paper and the school news show.

Cindy Miller, Junior: "I don't think so because if you want to express yourself differently, you are an out cast and made fun of. You have to be like everyone else. Dress rich, talk like everyone else, like the same music, just to belong. Otherwise you're a social zero."

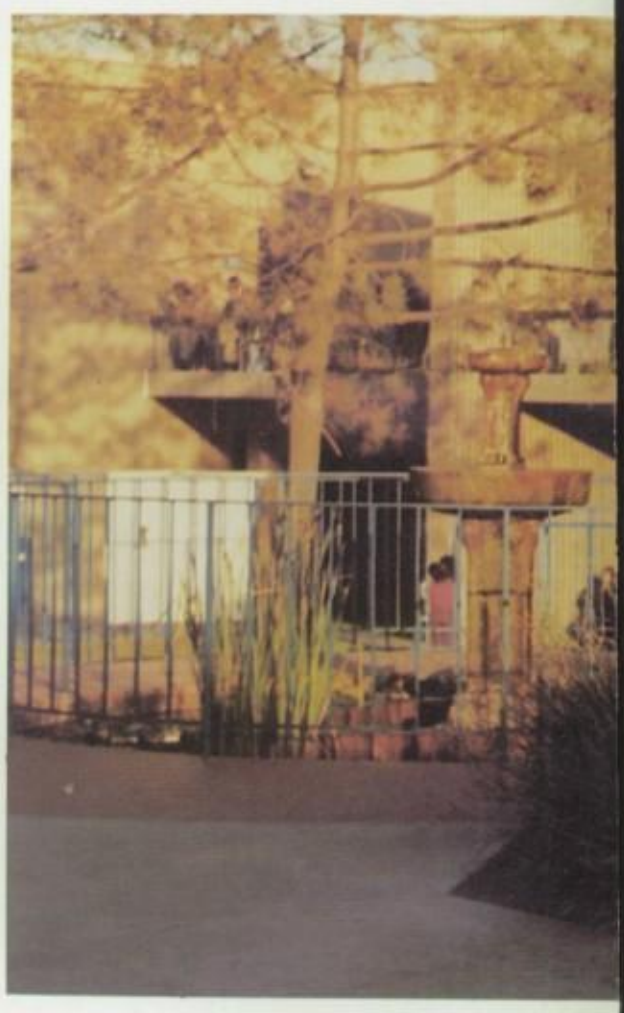
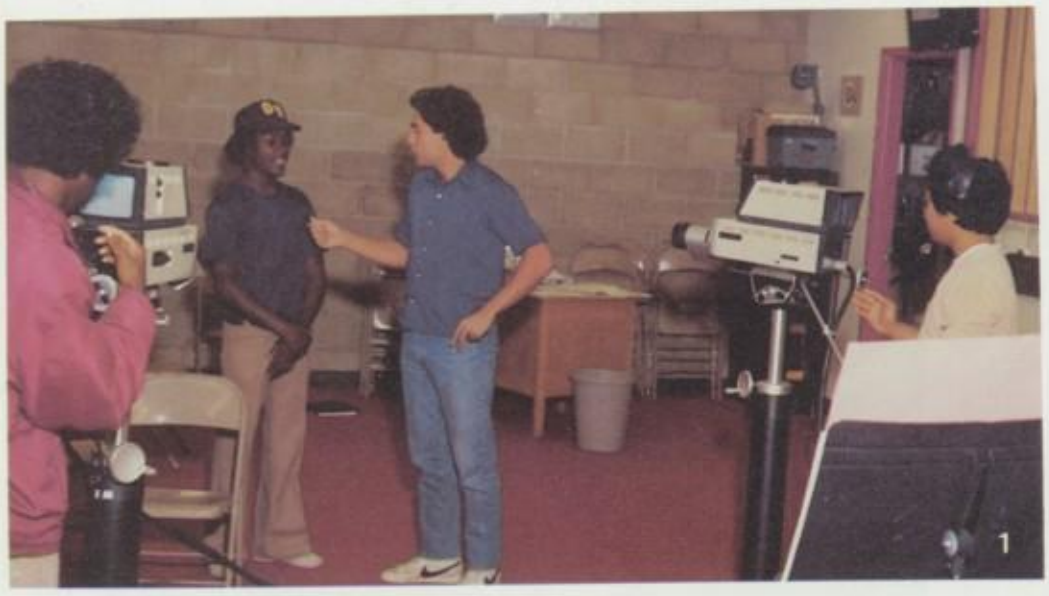
2 Megan Shirk studies in Mr. Burnett's Advanced 1-2 English class.



Expressions



1 Students in the Media class polish up their techniques.

Being Me, Being You,

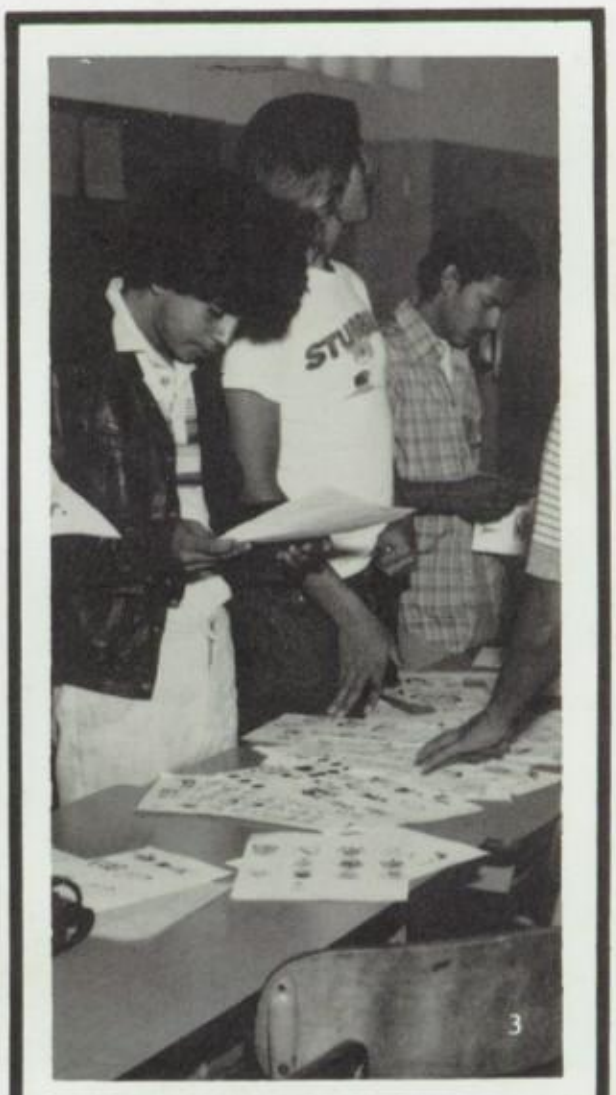
Going to school you meet many people, collecting friends to last forever. In the groups you hang around, you are influenced by the style everyone else likes but you are still an individual; among other individuals.

Some groups are compiled of people that attend and participate in very social and school activity offered. Some consist of people that are interest in academics, some groups are both, and the list goes on.

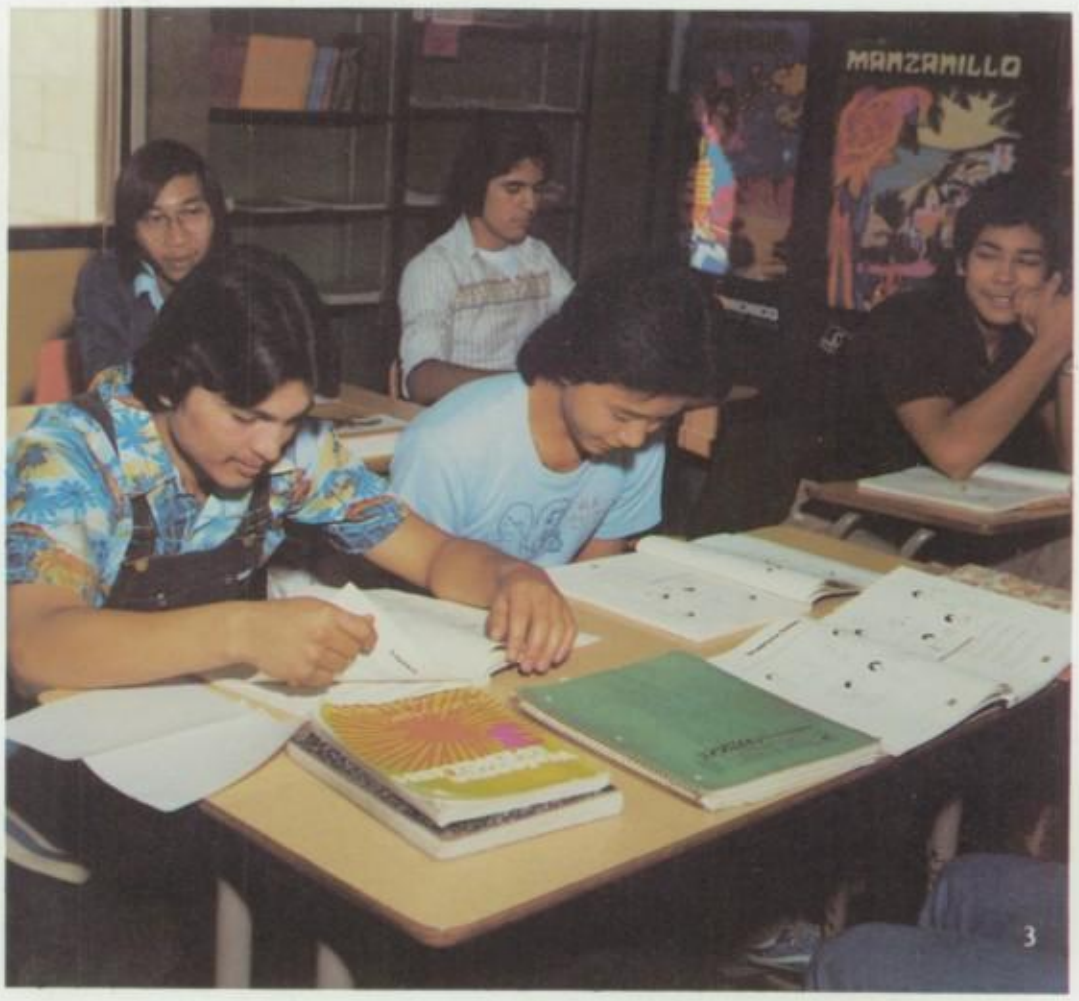
2 Students gather to eat breakfast in the early morning.

1 Nancy Hom expresses herself through artwork.

3 Sergio Lopez and Greg Rex go over patterns for styles of stationary in Graphic Arts.

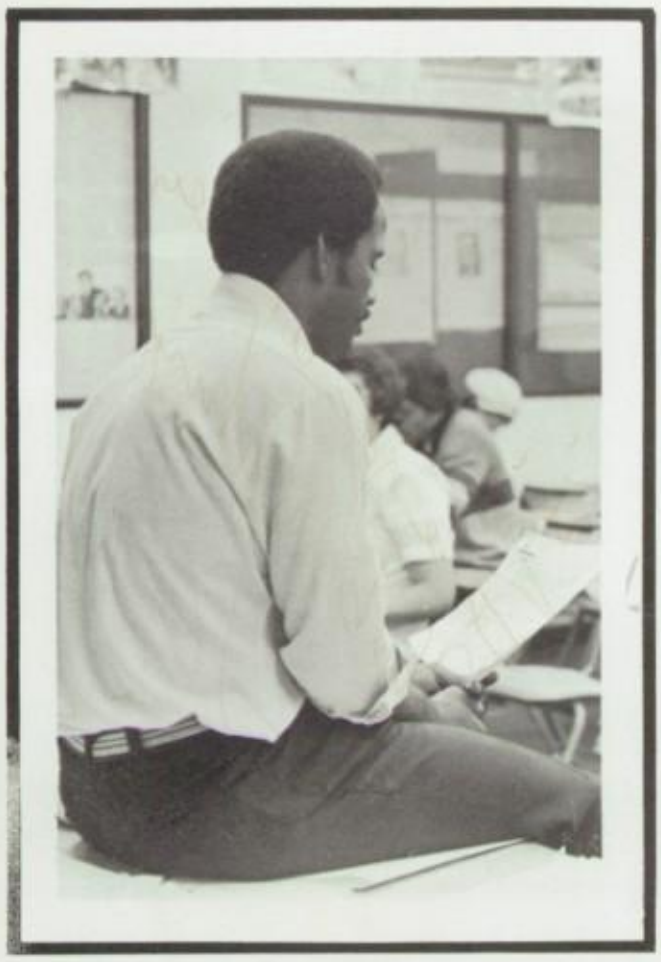


That's Our Style



Groups are symbolized on the appearance as a whole, not on the seperate pieces that go into making it.
Everyone is different but they always have something in common someone else; so they band together on these common interests making the group even more special.

1 Students go over their homework in the library.
2 A sophomore learns business procedures in Mrs. Peguie's BCT class.
3 Students learn to speak English in E.S.L. class.

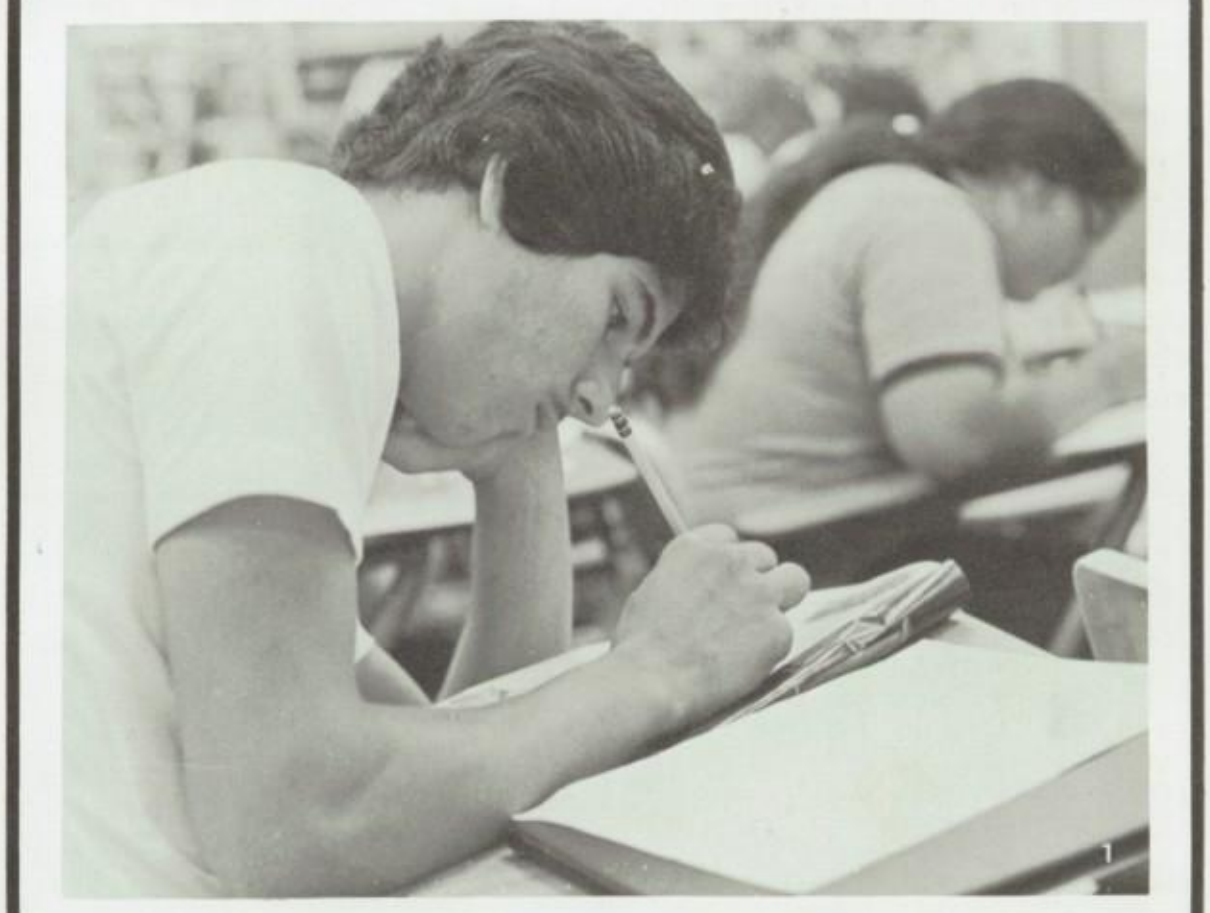


1 Gabriel studies during Mr. Carbone's history class.
2 Martha Torres reads during history.
3 Kevin Shields, exhausted from a long day of rigorous homework assignments, takes a brief nap.
4 Coach Murphy corrects a test in his American Government class.

History

Mr. Carbone, Ms. Roman, Mr. Williams and Mr. Brown were the four teachers who taught history this year. The classes included study in world and U.S. History.

Techniques used in teaching these classes included role playing and student produced video tapes. The video tapes encouraged the students to compare current events with events from the past.
Mr. Williams noted that the main objective of the history department was "to make the students aware of their past heritage."



Science Ex-Periment

Six teachers were employed by the science department this year, teaching classes such as biology, chemistry, and physics. Another class, bio-psychology has been offered here for the last two years. There are three different tracts, basic, general, and advanced, for different levels of students. A big event for the science department is the annual science fair. Students from all classes participated, and most received extra credit for their efforts. Field trips were taken to the zoo and the Balboa Park Museums. Because of the general school wide increase in video production, science teachers used more video taped programs inteaching their classes. Some of the videos seen were cosmos, the body human, and various national geographic shows. Only one year of science is required for graduation, however many students take two or three years to supplement their college requirements. About 700 students were in science classes this year.

Media Class Take One

Media and TV production is a truly unique class. The class was open not only to students but also to adults. About twenty adults attended this ROP class, along with about 30 high schoolers from our school and Hoover. Another thing that makes this class unique is it's three separate studios, more than most colleges and universities. "Most news stations only have two studios," said Steve Blake, TV and Media teacher," and San Diego State only has one studio." Each studio contains about fifteen to twenty thousand dollars worth of equipment. Equipment is an available resource to all SDHS students and faculty, and also to schools throughout the district, so naturally the students in the class kept busy throughout the year. Of the students who started the class, about 70% stayed in it the whole year. Most of the 30% who dropped the class, did so during the first week. Enrollment increased about 100% over last year.

1. A media teacher giving a lecture.
2. Two media students learning how to use the sophisticated equipment.

Hey Kim,
You have a good Summer and Take it easy next year.

Business Department

All the courses in the business department are electives. They are designed to aid students in getting an enrty level job in a business office. Among the many courses offered are: Office Training, Typing, marketing, business careers, accounting, and Introduction to data processing. These courses help provide a basic background in business. In consumer Math, taught by Mr. Anderson, directly applied to everyday life. As in years past many, students were placed in jobs at banks, clothing stores and offices all over San Diego. This job placement program was headed by Mrs. Mac Arthur and Mr. Nakamura. The work experience these students receive can result in extra school credit and, or pay.

1. Mrs. MacArthur was explaining some proje to Jose Luna.

2. Jose Luna studies his achievements in Business class.

3. Mr. Anderson discusses his plans with Elodia Sandoval and Carmen Flores.

4. Rosie Wolfgramm works at her adding machine.

Drama Department: Act II

Drama a popular elective, was taught this year by Mrs. Ludlow; who arrived on campus last November. She also organized the two all school plays. These plays, which drew actors from the Drama Dept. and from the rest of the school, were directed by the students. An assembly was held before both plays to increase interest, and bring more students out to watch. Although the number of students involved in drama remained about the same, Mrs. Ludlow feels that there was an increased overall interest in drama. I have a feeling the student body is more supportive this year." Said Mrs. Ludlow.

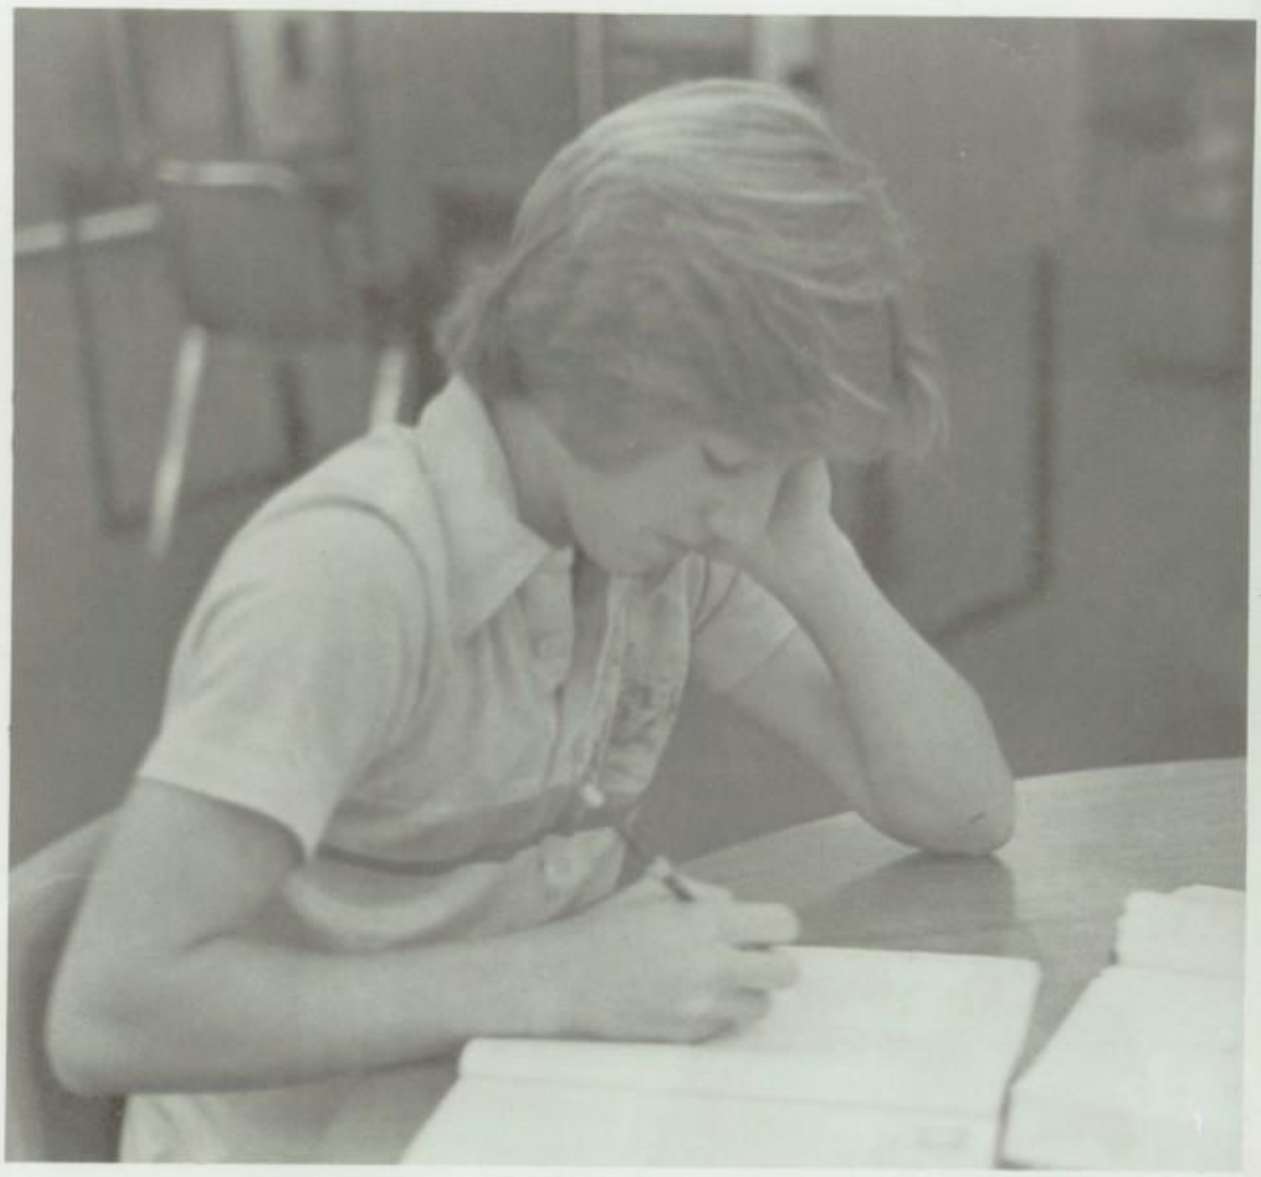
Another important part of the drama department is the Thespians. To be, a Thespian, a student must have one hundred hours of drama experience. They did a play this year also. In addition to its plays, the drama department performed at special activities, and for community groups that requested their service. The two drama classes, beginning and advanced were held fifth and sixth periods. This made it convenient for students to stay after school for play practice.

1 The Drama Club takes time to pose.
2 Francine Works gives her ideas.
3 Jovan Jovanovic shows his true nature.

One of the best things about Honors Calculus was that it only met four days a week. Students who took the class, taught by Mr. Cromer, received college credit for their efforts. It was the only college math class offered on campus.

Once again, independent study math was offered. The program, headed up by Mr. Johnstone, was well received and attracted a variety of students. Senior John Reyes, who was entering his third year of IS noted, "There were a few days when you might kick back but you had to keep going. Some people couldn't handle it. You just had to motivate yourself."

On the second floor of the 500 building, additional help was available to math students. It was here that the math lab was located. The math lab was designed to provide students with more specialized instruction.



1. Chris Jackson picked the library for a quiet place to study math.
2. Jane Ott working diligently in her first period math class.
3. Listening intently to her teacher is Carmen Galvan.
4. Geometry, Trigonometry, and Algebra. Three math classes offered to Cavers.

Field Studies

Field Studies was a part of this year's Magnet program between this school and Point Loma High. It was held period 2, 3, and 4, and counted for two credits in government and one credit in P.E. Students from the two Schools took turns being bused to each others campuses, the busing taking up one period a day.

Field Studies was an honors class, and required a lot of work. "A lot of reading and writing were required for the class", said Steve Painer, Senior. Besides doing a lot of work, the students went on numerous fields trips to different places in the county. For example the county court house, the pound, the police and fire department, and the Union Tribune news paper plant. Before each trip, students from the 2 school were paired up, in an effort to intergate the class." We got along pretty well with the Point Loma students", said senior Erik Madler. Another big part of the class was guest speakers. Politicians, Larry Kapilaf and Ross Thrp, were two of these speaker

1. A sophmore student thinks about his test.
2. Nick Sully waits for the bell ring to go to class Field Studies.
3. A Junior Student thinks about his answers before, he answer his test.
4. Students in Mr. Carbone class is working hard at their paper.

Physical Fitness is a Requirement for all Cavers. Some of the class choices included volleyball, tennis, raquetball and fitness. Another option for students was to play sports period six. The number of students in team sports remained about the same. Participation in volleyball and football increased, and the badminton team grew in size also.
Students in raquetball class could either play on campus or go across the street and play at City College. Some new classes have been proposed like bicycling and mountaineering but so far nothing has been done to start them.

1. Nets were set up in the gym so cavers could play badminton.
2. Michele Walsh stopping to pose after a long, grueling rally.
3. Playing an intense game of raquetball is Scott Vaught.
4. Volleyball was a popular P.E. class fourth period.
5. Richard Solorzano going up for a jump shot.

Academics

High Level Academics is alive and well this year. An example of this could be found in the English department. Student in accelerated classes were a part of organized numerous activities. For Honors English, taught by department chairman Jon Icardo, took part in the Winter celebration simulation held at school. Students were required to bring authentic food and wear clothes reflecting of that time period. Also, this same class was involved in organizing the 3rd Annual Renaissance Faire. For Advance English Class also participated to the Faire brought materials as well dressing up.

1. Lisa Martini is intent as she gets her brain in gear.
2. Rosalie Ciarmitaro studies science with friends.
3. Norman Baker takes a serious look at things.

1. Ken Dixon contemplates his first game.

2. The girls tennis team clowning around.

3. Denise Valentine showing painful determination running Morley Field.

Up against tough competition, the girl's tennis team did quite well. They acheived two victories over Hoover with scores of 9-8 and 10-7. Cleo Vandoren, junior, the number one singles player, upset a Bishop's player in the conference finals. She has the most outstanding player with 16 wins credited to her. Other outstanding players who are returning next year are Sharon Fields and Kelly Ray. Graduating seniors were Gayle Fraylor and Laura Fishman.

We're Bustin Loose

1. San Diego High Football Team.
1st row: Kevin Sheilds (#28), Mike Baxter (#80), Pat Harris (#11), Angelo Woods (#21), Javin Crowder (#32), Romeo Russel (#20), Cedric Anderson (#34), Rudy Rameriz (#52), Keith Taylor (#2).
2nd row: Coach Miller, Mark Regan (#74), Kenny LeBlanc (#40), Richard Stroud (24), Vito Sanfilipo (#75), Carlos Mello (#65), Angel Hueso (#50), Manuel Gallagos (#51), Eugene Johnson (#62), Coach Hines
4th row: Coach Lanctot Bo Kelly Watkins (#83), Tom Fitz (#71), Isaih Buggs (#73), Ken Howard (#77), Ceasar Ruiz (#12), Dennis Clay (#10), Coach Hemberra, Ron Castle.

2. Tom Fitz (#71) leaps over a defender en route to helping Keith Taylor gain a few extra yards.

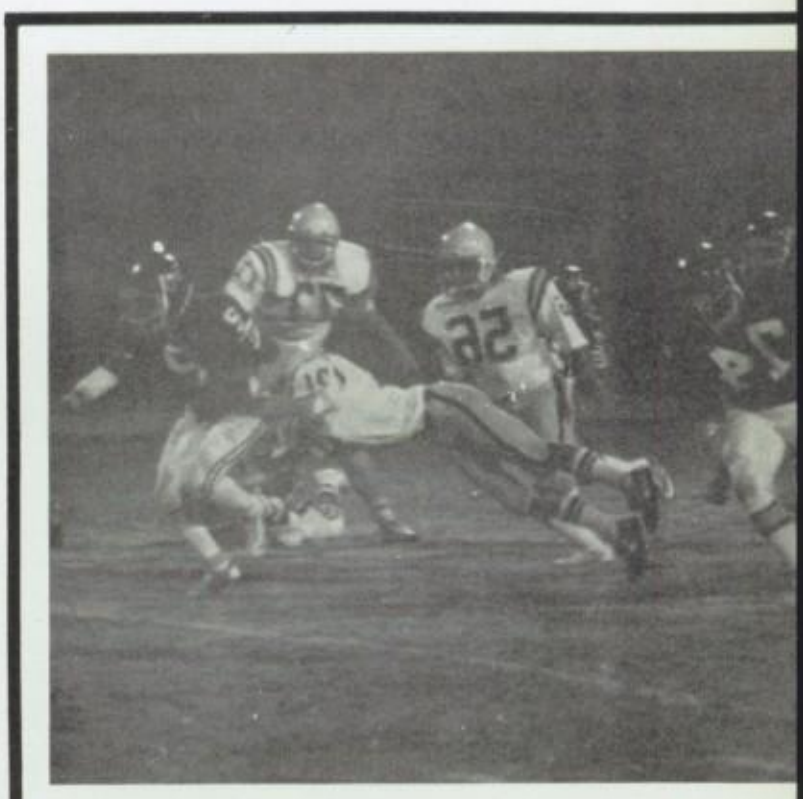
Dennis Clay is hit by a Saintsman, but not before completing the first down. Quarterback Ruis throws under pressure.

Up. That was the only direction Caver football could take. After the previous season's disaster (of 0-9 for the year) they were determined to prove they could play a competitive, winning brand of football. Their first year in Western league play gave them this opportunity. La Jolla introduced the Cavers to league play by handing them a 21-20 defeat. A two point conversion that would have given S.D. the win in the final seconds was nullified by a penalty. Heartbreak. But that attack did not prevent them from winning their next four out of five games. Two of these wins included great offensive displays against Mission Bay and Hoover. The 46-0 drubbing of M.B. was highlighted by a 170 yrds. rushing by senior Keith Taylor. Junior Manuel Gallegos was one of the stars in the Hoover game his two interceptions helped pave the way for a 50-13 spoiling of the Cardinals Homecoming.

One of the contributing factors to the success of the team was morale. In commenting on this, Varsity letterman K. Perone noted that the team "felt more together and knew they could win any game they entered".

An example of the Cavers new found spirit was demonstrated when they decided to practice on a holiday. This was so they could better prepare for their season finale against Lincoln.



Keith Taylor struggles to run against his opponents.

The SDHS Girls Volleyball teams improved greatly over last years teams. The varsity team celebrated two great victories with wins over Mission Bay and Lincoln, while the J.V. defeated Lincoln for it's lone victory. Team work was displayed by both the J.V. and Varsity players.

Outstanding players on the Varsity team were Serafin Cleaver, Betty Kohl, Carol Langley, Casandra Palmer, Carolina Rodriguez, and Carmen Galvan.

J.V. players Wendy Aragon, Felicia Web, and Rita Morales were the key athletes in sustaining team spirit and moral. Coaches Davis and Lindenmeyer are extremely optimistic towards next years team.

The girl's cross country team had a good season. They finished 4-3 in the western league placing 5th at South Bay, 4th at Point Loma, and 4th at Mt. Sac Invitationals respectfully. The team had depth with many new sophomores joining and with half of last years team returning.

Each member improved as the season progressed and acheived their individual goals. Ruby Ibarra, the number one runner, showed great leadership qualities throughout the season. The girls had a fun season and under Coach Bob Stout and assistant Coach Ed Ramos, they look forward to a better team next year.

Run For The Glory

The Boys Cross Country team, fueled by returning seniors Miguel Zurita, George Fernandez, Steve Gonzales, and John Reyes, had a succesful season.

The teams top runner, Miguel Zurita, provided the team with spirit and encouragement. Besides Miguel, there were several other runners who contributed to team victories.

Although the team is losing several seniors Coach Pedigo is looking forward to another good season next year. There are more than enough sophomores and juniors to replace the departing seniors.

1. Steve Gonzales pushing it to the limit.
2. Sophomore Omar Paloma striding at a Morley Field meet.

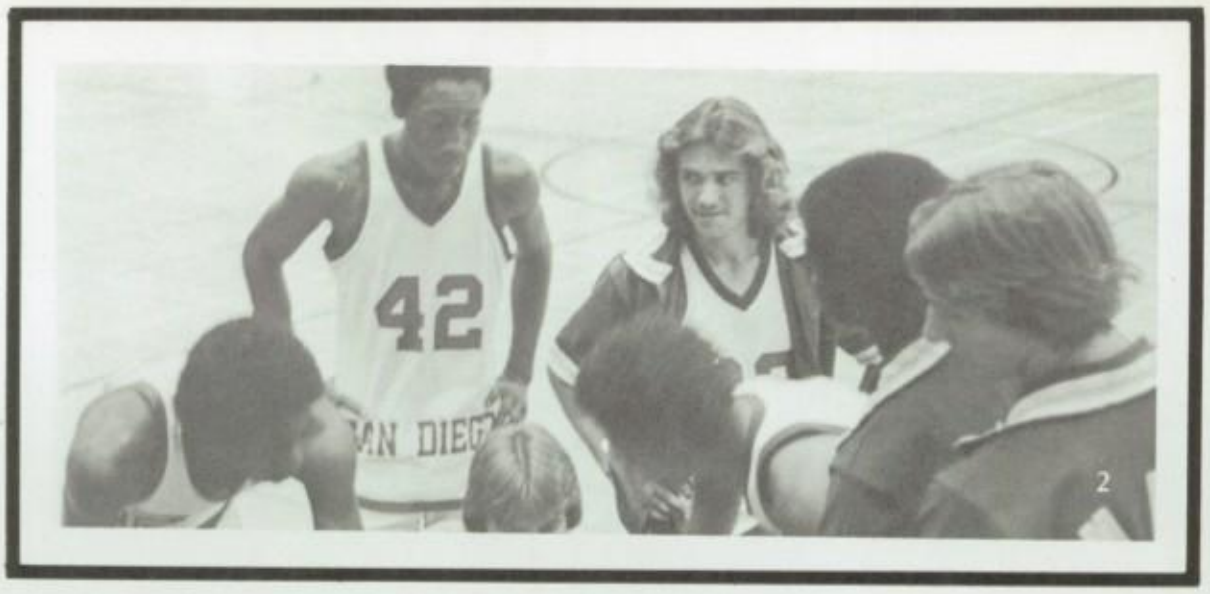
2. James Gross watching the birdie.
3. Stanley Donn looks on as Irwin Hom makes a difficult shot.

The 1980-81 team was the strongest badminton team in San Diego High's history. They had a chance at both the League and City Championships.

Seniors Erik Mandler, Kavosh Depanah, Andrew Lui, Mary Najera, and Carmen Diaz contributed heavily to the success of the team. An enthusiastic and talented crop of 10th graders, led by Chong Chi and Quyen Chau assure the team of several more years of badminton success.

Coach Donna Moore considers this the finest, most competitive team she has ever coached.

CIF Basketball Contenders



This years varsity basketball team brought a new sense of pride to San Diego High basketball, a sense of pride that hasn't been present since the CIF teams of 1974-75.

The team was lead by senior David King and juniors Norman Baker, Kelly Watkins, Herman Welstuand Northern California transfer Anthony Murphy. These five helped the team get off on the right foot and continue winning throughout the season.

Though the team suffered two straight losses to open league play, they rebounded with two wins, upsetting Hoover 62-47 and University 52-47. The La Jolla game posed a major problem in that the Viking possessed a high school All American candidate in 6 foot 8 and one half inch Ken Johnson. Although the Cavers held him below his 30 point average, La Jolla still won.

The J.V. Softball team won two games this year against rival Lincoln. Though these were their only two wins, it did not keep the girls from enjoying their year on the team. They had a lot of fun, and when they got on base, they had a high percentage of base stealing.

The team practiced from 1:30 to 4:00 every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and played games on Tuesday and Thursday. Their coach, Jodi Lindemmeyer, worked well with the team, and was held in high regard by the girls on the team. "We have an excellent coach, who supports us whether we're winning or losing," said Beth Farnsworth, junior. This type of appreciation is probably what kept the team from becoming bitter, and kept them happy throughout a losing year.

1. Varsity Softball: 1st row: I. Letchaw, M. Madruga, S. Cleaver, C. Gaines, A. Avila, 2nd row: D. Chubchu, M. Uybungco, I. Bustos, G. Traylor, B. Kohl, M. Gonzales, P. Wilborn.

JV Softball Tries Hard

The JV softball team won two games this year against rival lincoln. Though these were their only two wins, it did not keep the girls from enjoying their year on the team. They had alot of fun, and then they got on base, they had a high percentage of base stealing.

The team practiced from 1 to 4 every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and played games on Tuesday and Thursday. Their coach Joni Lindenmeyer, worked well with the team, and was held in high regard by the girls on the team.

"We have an excellent coach who supported us whether we were winning or losing," said Beth Farnsworth, junior.

J.V. A Promising Team

J.V. Soccer Team was proud of their record and their performance. Coach Miramontes gave his best with some insight and playing tips for his team which resulted a great season. Even though they were new comers they did an excellent job and we are proud to have them.

J.V. Basketball Shot For The Top

J.V. Basketball added a new dimension to their team when Grady Mason was named the new head coach. Coach Mason's previous duties with the varsity team gave him the necessary experience for his new position.

Lack of height was the main reason attributed to the team's 6 wins and 8 losses. Yet, junior varsity provided Caver fans with much excitement because of its lively, upbeat style of play. Junior guard Robert Eddington, who averaged 17 pts. a game, was a key player for the team along with sophomores Rodney Anderson and John Redding. Junior Alex Bustoswalso was a key with his in the middle.

2nd In Division Going All The Way

The Caver soccer team finished the regular season as the #4 ranked club in the county. But, as midfielder Kavosh Dehpanah explained the C.I.F. Championship was the main goal of the team. "From the very beginning we thought we could win the C.I.F." The attitude of the players and the new league we played in helped our confidence a great deal. A loss to La Jolla was the first serious set back the team suffered during the season. The game was played without their starting goalie Leo Hernandez. He had broken his hand in the previous game. The leader during the season was Victor Zatarain, a Midfielder. His ability to dribble and assists enable him to control the tempo of the game. Other outstanding players included Luis Meza, Cesar Ruiz, Jose Alvarez and Kavosh Dehpanah. One player commented that the Cavers had more talent than any team thy played all year. As with any successful team, the coach played an important part. Coach Rene Miramontes was no exception. He instituted a new system for the team tha that worked exceptionally well. His practiced sessions were creative and interesting for the players.

Gaining the C.I.F. playoffs came as no surprise to the teams. One Player commented "After we won our first 3 play off games we were really excited about playing Pt. Loma in the semi-final. We felt confident"

This years wrestling team had another good season individually. Manuel Gallagos, the teams number one wrestler for the second straight year, had an excellent season with more than ten pins. Gallagos also achieved one tournament championship. Two other wrestlers, Nick Perey and Jesse Aceron, also had excellent seasons.

Over all, the team had a fairly good season. The second team finished over 500, and the first team would have done better but many of the top players acquired injuries during the course of the season. Among the wrestlers injured were Kim Vuong who broke his arm, Frank Vasquez, who fractured his foot, and Terio Guzman, who dislocated an elbow. All of these injuries were to first team wrestlers.

Coach Hembera is hoping that all his second team wrestlers will return next year to help build a stronger, healthier team.

2. Kevin Shields hits the tape first as usual.
3. J.V. runner Armondo Reka came out ahead in this race.

The big star on the track team again this year was sprinter Kevin Sheilds. This Nationally ranked runner provided alot of talent to the San Diego High Track team and brought recognition to our school. Of course one person doesn't make a track team. San Diego's team also had talented personel in other areas such as high jump, the mile, and the 880. All of these talented students combined to provide San Diego High with another great year in track.

GIRLS TRACK

1. Lisa Smith is a picture of grace as she glides over these hurdles.
2. Junior Kelly Rays determination is one of the reason she has been the girls number one high jumper for the last two years.
3. Cheryl Gaines enters her final year of caver track with a smile
4. Denise Valentine ran the 880 as well as long jump. She went to the CIF prelums in the high jump her sophomore year.
5. J.V. long distance runners toe the line as they prepare to compete against st augustine.
6. Practice makes perfect. Nedra Cox shows her belief in that motto.

Graduation left quite a gap in the girls track team. As a result, most of the athletes were sophomores and juniors. Fortunately the lower level of competition encountered in their new league helped soften things a bit.

There were a few bright spots on the team. For example Ruby Ibarra continued her excellent running in the mile and the 2 mile. Also Kelly Ray and Dence Valentine excelled in the high jump just as they did in their sophomore year.

Actually coach Stout and his assistants saw the inexperience of his team as a chance to try and bring out the potential in it. All were ready for the challenge.

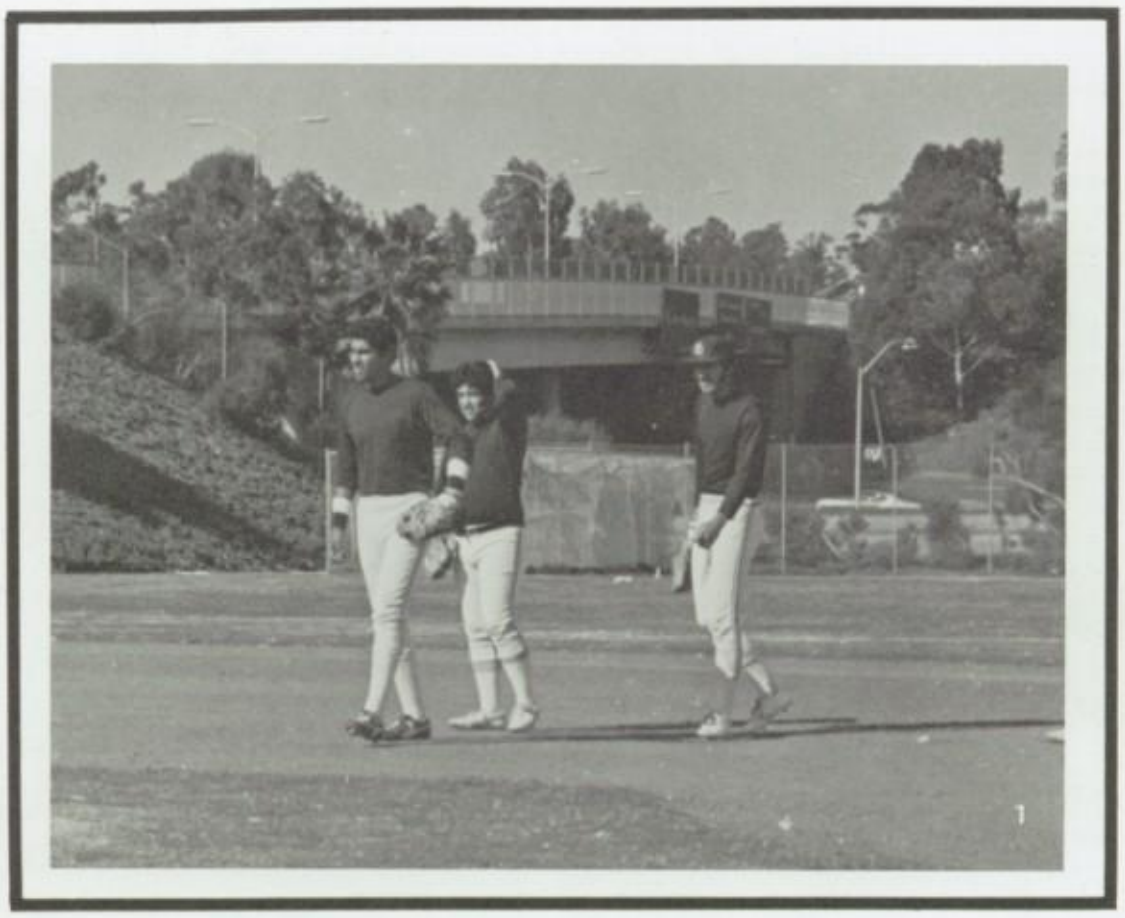
Varsity baseball players were very excited about the opportunity to participate in the western league. They felt that their team had enough talent to really push for the league title.

Most of the guys were confident before the season and that confidence flowed over into the season as they won their first 3 games. Everyone interested in caver baseball anticipated a fine season.

J.V. BASEBALL

1. Practice sessions for j.v. baseball include running bases in the opposite direction.
2. Coach Seracino gives his players some important game strategy.
3. Senior Mark Stilinovich appears lost as he participates in varsity workout. Mark earned his 2nd straight varsity letter in baseball.



As usual, j.v. baseball had their share of ups and downs during the season. But they managed to learn a few things on the way and that helped make their efforts worthwhile. Sometimes the fellows wondered why they spent long hours day after day trying to hone their skills, really everyone knew that participating at the j.v. level was a necessary part of their progress to the varsity team.

J.V. players had a lot to look forward to because of the schools league change from eastern to western. What this change meant was that they would have the opportunity to play against teams more comparable to their own once they reached varsity. Some people do not regard j.v. as being important. But, the players know how important they really were.

1. Kevin Bach reaches for a tough backhand shot.
2. Erik Mandler, the team's number one player, follows through on a serve.
3. The 1980-81 Boy's Tennis Team: Front row, Irwin Hom, Pham Dung, Jose Lopez, Matt Evans, Mike Lazo, Kirk Olafson. Back row, Mike Gordineer, Coach Hembera, Robert Piazza, Andy Coffey, Justin Endrizzi, Alan Gross, Kevin Bach, James Gardner.
4. Robert Piazza sticks his tongue out at his opponent as he hits a forehand.
5. Alan Gross shows the form that allowed him to beat so many tough opponents.
6. Irwin Hom Watches the ball intently as he smashes a serve into the ad court.

The Boys Tennis team, though it fielded only three returning lettermen, had a fairly good year over all. Erik Mandler, Alan Gross, and Irwin Hom were the only three returning players who stayed on throughout the year. Riley Homan, another returning letterman was forced to quit the team because he had to take night school.

Although the team is rich in young talent it will suffer a big loss because of the departure of senior, Erik Mandler. He is not only the teams best player, but a City ranked individual besides.

New Comers Learn To Perform

GYMNASTICS

Our Gymnastics team were worked hard, by gymnastics coach Scotty Harris, and they hoped to get off to a good start With the majority of the team being sophomores and the remaining few being seniors who have been on the team before such as Kelly Gray and Lisa Garcia both seniors are helping the new comers to learn the new routines so that they are able to perform in there meets.

ASB Provides Leadership

Through Homecoming, the ASB Ball, and numerous other activities, the ASB was present, planning, organizing, and providing leadership. That was the job of the Associated Student Body, to provide planning and leadership to help activities run smoothly.

Under the direction of advisor Fran Hill and president, Wendy Wilson, the ASB accomplished much during the school year. Through sales of candy and other items, they raised alot of money to contribute to the school in general.

The ASB Ball which had to be rescheduled for April 3rd, featured D.J. Swann, and was held at the San Diego Hotel. This activity capped off a year of successful activities held by ASB.

Our Helpful Teaching Staff

Faculty

This years faculty staff has done so well with coping with lost friends that they've also had to make a few new ones. One is Mrs. Helen Rieser. She is from Roosevelt Jr. High. She's high spirited and friendly. She said she enjoyed her new position here! We also had Mrs. Nancy Merino, from Roosevelt Jr. High. She did well at adjusting to new collegues and students!

San Diego High Welcomes You!!

3. Security guard Rosa Lopez was known by many of the students.

Mr. Ibarra has been principal at San Diego High School since August 1978. Prior to this job, he was principal at Memorial Junior High. Vice principal at Taft Junior High, and has taught at Gompers Junior High, Lincoln High and Lewis Junior High. He has also been a district consultant for foreign language, and compensatory education, as well as project director for ESL and bilingual/bicultural education.

Mr. Ibarra is a graduate of San Diego High School. He graduated from Loyola University of Los Angeles with a BS degree. His many honors include mention in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and he has been recently been nominated as "Outstanding Alumnist of the year" from the College of Education at San Diego State University, where he received his teaching credentials and Master's degree.

Faculty And Staff

FACULTY

The faculty staff here at San Diego High is decreasing more and more each year, because of the low student count. But, in spite of the unhappiness of seeing the teachers go, their fellow workers and students still seem to keep pretty high in spirits. One of the teachers who left at the semester was Fred Carbone a history teacher, he was transfered to Patrick Henry High, and we have heard he is very happy with his new job. The other teacher was Ed Hendryk who was transfered to Madison High. He is also doing very well.

We are sorry that the teachers have to go, but Cést la vie!

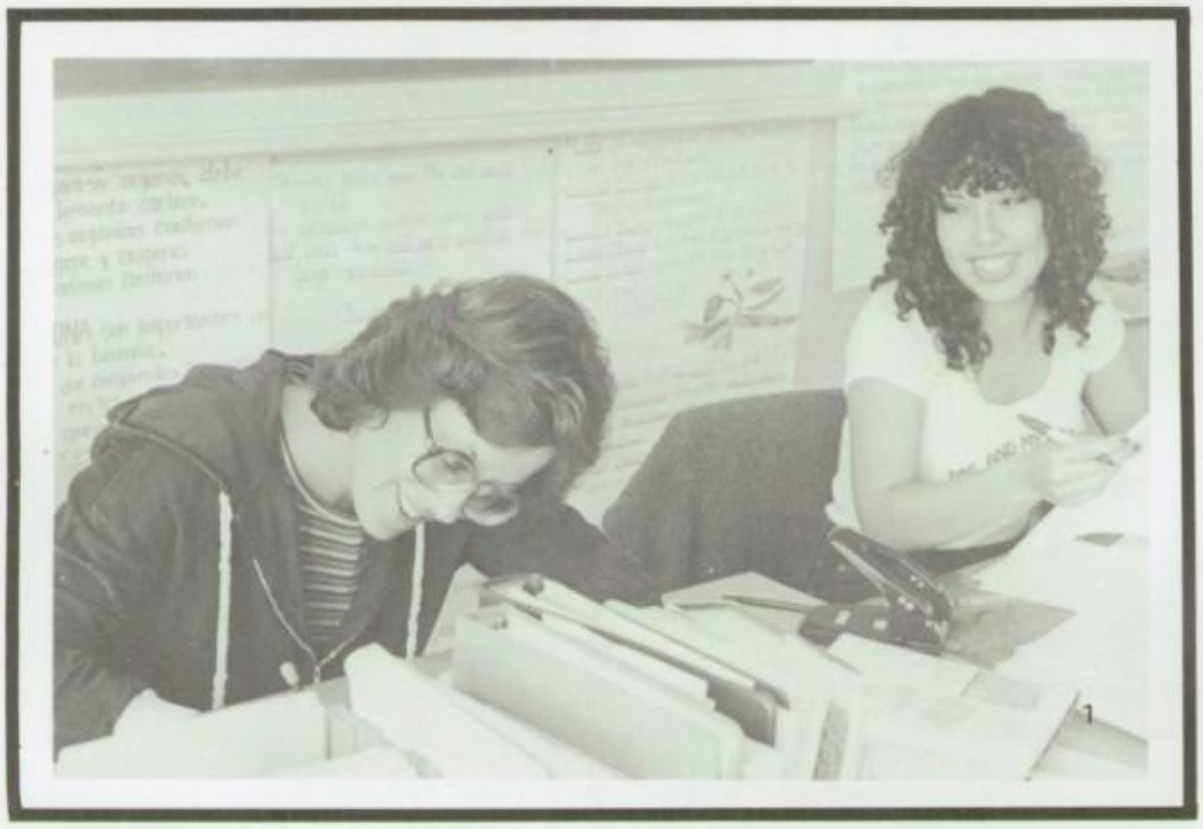
More Smiling Faces

There was many occupations on a High School campus. Person who filled this occupation needs various skills. For instance, Ms. Smith not only teaches Biology but teaches in Spanish. Mr. Williams, who taught U.S. History, is also a man with many skills. The R.O.T.C. faculty Mr. Matthews, Mr. Bandoian, each experience as a result of being Veterans of Korean and Vietnam War. Mr. Badoing was a Tank Commander, this gave him the experience he needed to deal with his R.O.T.C. students.



1. Ms. Smith and Ms. Moddess show working together is more fun!
2. Mr. Williams display his profile
3. Mr. Matthews and Mr. Badoing smile while the picture is taken.

Faculty Express It Too

Fred,
You might arrive in the "real world"
some day!
M.C.

A school is more than just a place to meet from 8:00 till 2:30 it is a place where much creation should take place. The ideas and personalities associated with the school are important factor. Ideas come from everybody envolved with the school, especially the teacher. The teachers are the ones that have to carry out the rule set by Administrators, as well as lestening to the needs of the student body. Teachers expressed their views in variety of ways, whether interacting directly with students in both the classrooms and other extra curricular activities.

1. Teaching has calming effect on Mr. Mike Rigdon.
2. Mrs. Lamb the government teacher was relaxed after a hard day in class
3. Teacher hard at work.

Steve Palmer And Mike Benitez discuss the usefulness of a frisbe.

Spirit Spirit Spirit Comes Out In

After school on Halloween, there was a very successful carnival. Many people participated in all the activities. There were cake walks, frisbe tosses and food sold in abundance.

Groups that sponsored these various booths were French Club, Greek Club, A.S.B., and many others. Hopefully next years carnival will be just as successful.

San Diego County Journalism And Yearbook Write Offs

The San Diego county journalism and yearbook write offs were held at S.D.H.S. for the 2nd straight year. Schools like Helix, Mt Carmel, Montgomery and Kearny were among the many that participated.

Students from each yearbook staff were presented with pictures. These pictures were to be placed in whatever order desired on a 2 page layout. A theme, captions and body copy was then required. Two hours was the amount of time given each group members of our yearbook staff who took part were Myrna Castaneda, Alan Gross, Gary Price, and Justin Endrizzi. They commented that they were pleased with their efforts.

Also include in the write offs were journalism students and photographers, many with professional equipment were required to take whatever pictures they desired within the school grounds, they would later send in three 8 x 10s.

Homecoming: A Night To Remember

The Homecoming Dance 1980 was held in the gym from 8 oclock to 12. The tunes were provided by Paul's music enterprise and were carefully mixed to please everyone.

At about 10 o'clock the music stopped to provide time to announce the Homecoming Queen and her court. Following this was a special dance exclusively for the queen and her court.

The dance continued on into the night, providing an enjoyable evening for those in attendance. The dance was over at 12, and all the students filtered out into the night, leaving the gym quiet and void of life.

San Diego Tells Richard Morefeild

Students poured out their hearts in showing their appreciation for Richard Morefield after his release from Iran. The Student Body had many ways of showing it's elation at Morefield's release.

The most obvious show of appreciation was all the yellow ribbons worn by students throughout the following Morefield's release. Yellow ribbons were also tied around all the trees in the Torrey Pines area, and other places around campus. The day after Morefield's release, a huge sheet of paper was brought down to the lunch court, and students were allowed to sign it to welcome Richard Morefield home. It was apparently a newsworthy event since a reporter for the San Diego Union was on campus reporting on the event. A television crew from TV 8 was also present to film the signing of the "Welcome Home card".

On the Saturday following Morefield's return to San Diego, a service was held in Balboa Park honoring him. Present at the service were many SDHS students and the SDHS band, there to honor Morefield, a former student at San Diego High.

5. Brian Paloma smiles cunningly as he holds up what appears to be a bat.

A carnival was held at school on February 19, 1981 as part of Brotherwood Week. This carnival featured numerous activities for the students to see and take part in. Volunteers of school clubs sold food and drink representative of the different countries around the world. Live entertainment was also featured.

One of the main attractions at the carnival was the car show. Cars old and new were lined up on campus for students to view at their leisure. The oldest car displayed was a 1942 brown Pontiac.

In order to raise money, the letterette club decided to stage a racquetball tournament. By paying 50 cents a student could enter and have a chance to win a trophy as well as claim the title of number 1 racquetball player. A mixed doubles competition was also staged.

Each day at lunch time students who were in the tourney would suit up and head for the school courts. After 3 days the eventual winner would be announced. It turned out to be left handed player Trina Kinsey a senior. She defeated Gary Price by a 15-7 score.

Gary Price had a 6-4 lead at one point but he was unable to hold off a furious onslaught by Miss Kensey. She had trouble in the semifinals before defeating Joanne Apparito 15-12. Gary won his semifinal match over Frank Wolfgram 15-12.

1. The 1980-81 Russ staff.

Under the guidance of advisor Sue Gembrowski and editor Cookie Lemke, the Russ staff reported on all school events, current community happenings, student opinions and human interest stories. The staff did all the photography, interviews and writing. They also acquired skill at layout. They used all these skills in publishing approximately 12 newspapers during the year. The Russ is one of the oldest clubs at school.

2. Miss Gembrowski listens patiently as Angel Hueso relates his dilemna.
3. Working diligently on a newspaper article is Marc Benner.

Journalism: Being a reporter for T.V. nems is definitely an exciting occupation. The purpose of the journalism class is to hopefully direct the students into a career of court reporting. Some of the responsibilities of the Journalism class included writing news stories and anchoring the news shows. The shows were taped by the Community Center Media and Tech. class.

One magazine was the goal of the journalism class period 5 and 6. After publishing the magazine, the period 5 and 6 class switched jobs with the period 1 and 2 class. This allowed for a diversity in the curriculum from 1st to 2nd semester.

The restaurant class served up hot meals to the students of San Diego High during the year. In addition to the money they made, they gained experience in restaurant management and food preparation.

The restaurant class met every day periods 4-5 to plan meals and practice up on cooking skills. When they felt up to it they called in students to sample their food at the Blue Castle Cafe. Some of the meals served were tacos and Spanish rice, toast beef and noddles, and spaghetti and meatballs. All of the meals were tasty and enjoyed by the students.

The objectives of the Key Club are to develop initiative and leadership. Also to provide experience in living and working together, and to serve our school and our community.

The Key Club takes part in many activities throughout the year. This past summer, Key Club president Lisa Martini attended the National Key Club Convention. At this convention, Lisa learned more about Key Club International, and gained skills in leadership needed to run the club. She worked along with Mr. Floyd, advisor, to head up the club.

Students in Action was a group of concerned students united in an effort to aid fellow students. This multifasceted group help students with academics, helping them to get through school. Students in Action also held a dance and bake sales to get needed funds to run the club.

Dances, skating parties, La Posada, dinners, and picnics were some of the activities that kept Club Latino's members busy.

Mr. Neitzel, advisor, had the members of the club selling food and flowers and sponsoring car washes to raise money. The club also had numerous carnation sales to support club trips.

The club met every Tuesday in room 112 to plan activities and socialize.

2. Some club members listen to proposals for money raising activities.
3. Club Latinos advisor Mr. Nietzal presides over a Tuesday meeting.

The Sophomore Class, under the direction of president Isabel Dale, did much to unite the sophomores on campus.

The big event planned by the sophomore class was the Spring Jam held in the gym on March 27th. This dance featured a live D.J. and $200 worth of prizes given out in a drawing. This and other activities planned and carried out by the Sophomore Class did much to enhance the program of activities here at San Diego High. We're looking for an even bigger contribution from these students in their next two years here.

5. This is a photo of last years tour group when they were visiting the Swiss Alps.

Students with a travel bug had a chance to get rid of it this year by joining the Odyssey Club. The sole purpose of the club is to travel, learning about other cultures.

This summer, the club is planning a trip to Europe, where they will visit points of interest in France, Italy, and Switzerland. Some of the places they will visit include Venice, in Italy, the Swiss Alps, and the French Riveria.

Odyssey club advisor, Jon Icardo is very excited about the trip, and says its a great deal for the money. "It's the best trip they've arranged so far for our club," claimed Mr. Icardo. It promises to be an experience for the students whom are attending.

If you happened to see students hopping around campus with their shoes tied together, or stopping between periods to talk to a wall, don't be alarmed. It was only a chosen few going through Thespian initiations. This rite of initiation is held every year by the Thespians and is a tradition among Thespian Troupes on all high school campuses. The few students who made it through these initiations were allowed to become part of Thespian Troupe 551 and became eligible to perform in the Thespian original "Hey Ma Pa's Dead.

This comedy, the creation of some of the students here, was performed by the Thespians in late February. The newly initiated members of the Troupe were allowed to participate. In addition to the play, the thespians performed at the Renaissance Faire in May and at student assemblies during the year.

Their Own Style

The JV cheerleaders, though small in number, were big on spirit. They participated in all sophomore assemblies providing spirit and raising excitement. In addition, they organized the Mr. Legs contest and participated in all the pep rallys.

Homecoming was a big event for the cheerleaders. The squad helped in preparing for the dance by helping with decorations, painting, and making posters. In the big homecoming pep rally, JV joined with the varsity and returning cheerleaders to promote the game and bring people out to watch.

On halloween, all the cheerleaders dressed up as football players and they also participated in other special activities like blue and white day and hat and button day.

3. As editor, Myrna Castaneda was always doing something in relation to the yearbook.
4. James Gardener spent much of his time developing film.

The overwhelming pressures of turning out a successful yearbook were too much for some of the members of the annual staff. A number of staffers dropped the class at the semester, one of these people being the Editor-in-Chief. These students were not aware of the pressure resulting from missing a deadline and facing the possibility of the yearbook arriving late. The students who stayed on the staff, however, were in for a pleasant surprise.

At the end of March, the yearbook staff sent in its final 35 pages to the publishing company. For the rest of the year, staffers were free to do as they pleased since all the work was over. Among other things the Staff ran a booth in the Renaissance Faire, and sold extra pictures left over after the final deadline was sent in.

Entering a new decade was nothing new for SDHS. After more than 9 years of service, one more decade is as nothing.

Even though a number of exterior changes have taken place the undying spirit of the school itself will never change. It will continue to grow and adapt to the challenges that the 80's bring.

And for how much longer will San Diego's oldest high school be able to stand the test of time. Will it always bask in the glory of the city and state it represents? Only the future holds the key to these interesting questions.

Really, the activities and events that took place at the Grey Castle didn't vary that much from years past as usual. There were dress up days and half days and bad days and holidays.

SDHS will not be entering just a new decade, it will be entering a new century. 1982 will mark the school's 100th anniversary as an institute of learning.

And on the eve of this school's 100th year in existence, we would do well to reflect upon the past, while pressing on toward the future.

1. Jane Erickson is dwarfed by a large wheel.
2. Bare. That is what it looked like after the stands of Balboa Stadium were torn down.
3. Construction workers use the latest equipment to pave the way for new stadium.

Balboa Stadium was the center of numerous discussions involving the city, the school district and SDHS. Plans to tear down the structure were second guessed when it was discovered that a portion of the stands could have been saved. But, this hindsight proved useless.
